

COUNTY WOMAN IS JAILED ON THEFT CHARGE

Mrs. Genevieve Acevedo, 32, Gettysburg R. 3, was arrested by state police Tuesday afternoon and lodged in the county jail in default of bail on a charge of burglary and larceny filed by the officers before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

State police said a tool box and tools, valued at $100, was stolen August 27, 1961 from a barn at the property of Charles Keller, Gettysburg R. 2. Last week, according to police, Mrs. Acevedo and her husband George, ran out of gas while driving by the home of Glenn Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3. They secured some gasoline from Trostle, giving him as security for future payment the tool box and tools stolen from the Keller home last August.

Mrs. Acevedo said that she had found the box, but police allege she walked to the Keller home and stole the tool box from the barn.

STEAL WEAPONS

State police simultaneously were investigating a burglary reported to them Tuesday by Clarence Merwin Barnard, 62, Fairfield R. 1. Barnard, who resides along the Furnace Rd., three miles west of Fairfield, told police he is returning to his property there after spending some time in North Carolina where he had been employed by Duke University. Police said Barnard moved some items to the home on March 27 and on Saturday, when he returned with more articles, found during the four day absence someone had broken in the front door of the house and removed a Winchester double-barreled 12 gauge shotgun and a Remington, 22 calibre, single shot rifle, valued at $65.

LAST 1-ROOM ADAMS SCHOOL TO BE CLOSED

The closing of the last one-room schoolhouse in Adams County was voted Monday evening by the Franklin Twp. School Board.

The board made its decision to close the Valley School at the end of the current school term after a discussion of "transportation, maintenance and inconveniences" of the Buchanan Valley school. The schoolhouse has two rooms but recently only one has been used for classes.

The teacher, Mrs. Mary Steinberger, and the 24 pupils assigned there will be included in the elementary program at the Cashtown school in September. A building expansion program is under way there. The matter of disposing of the Valley School property and buildings was listed for discussion at a future board meeting.

THERE SINCE 1890

The motion to close the Valley School was made by Harry Hall and seconded by Ross White. Records at the office of the county superintendent of schools indicate the school has been operating for more than 70 years.

President Thomas O. Oyler presided at the board meeting with all members of the board in attendance. The board inspected five displays of school furniture presented by five sales representatives. Specifications for the new classroom furniture and library equipment will be prepared in the near future, a board announcement added.

There was also a discussion about the plans for the new school building at Cashtown as to whether a locker room-storage area under the all-purpose room should be included to serve also as a fallout shelter.

ADOPT SALARY SCALE

The board was told that letters received in response to an ad placed in The Gettysburg Times by Mrs. Betty Mitson on the question of a fallout shelter favored the proposal by a margin of 24 to 3. A decision will be reached on the matter after a

The program on Straban Twp. was presented by Arthur Weaver, corresponding secretary of the society and secretary to the present board of township supervisors in Straban Twp. He read a township history that was written by him and published recently in the Ulster Folk Life magazine of Belfast, Ireland.

The program followed a lengthy business session at which Treasurer Frank Newcomer reported $233.50 already received from seminary alumni who last week received a special brochure and appeal for help in restoring the Old Dorm where many of them had lived as students. The gifts have come from a number of states and often are accompanied by letters from seminary grads expressing great interest in the project to save the historic building.

Bloodless Victory Is Proclaimed In Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's high command claimed a bloodless victory Tuesday night in the two-day Aleppo revolt and the rout of its leaders. But it assured rebelling army officers their demands for close ties with the United Arab Republic would be realized.

The Central Army Command announced over Damascus radio that troops and officers in the northern city of Aleppo had proclaimed their loyalty to the Damascus regime and returned to barracks "without any clash or fighting."

(Despite the claim that there had been no fighting, truck drivers who managed to cross over into Lebanon said they heard heavy gunfire coming from the

TELLS WOMEN OF CHINESE CARVED JADE

Dr. Frank H. Kramer, retired head of the education department of Gettysburg College, spoke to the Women's League of Gettysburg College at its meeting in the Student Union building Tuesday afternoon on the topic of "Chinese Carved Jade."

He exhibited a number of valuable pieces of jade, a very hard stone which comes from rivers and mountains, the carving of which is primarily a Chinese art although the Japanese have made some copies. Contrary to public concept, all jade is not green. Red jade is very valuable, and it also is found in yellow and lavender. Dr. Kramer said. He explained that it cannot be scratched with steel and the carving of it, which takes years of patient effort for even the smallest specimen, is done by grinding a harder material, mixing it with oil and using it for the jade grinding.

SHOWS RARE PIECES

Dr. Kramer exhibited a 1726 altar piece in green, uniform in character, which, though fairly small, is valued at about $500, he said. A tiny horse in green carved so that the red vein in the stone formed the top of the mane and the back was an interesting piece, as were several fine incense burners, a snuff bottle, brush holder, etc. Dr. Kramer said, "The value of jade was established before Confucius and the deeper the shade of green the more valuable it is. Because yellow was rarer, all jade of that color belonged to the Emperor until 1912." As a contrast to the jade he exhibited a large, intricately carved statue of Shou Lau, carved from yellow aspen.

The exhibits, the property of Gettysburg College, are part of their larger exhibit in the library, most of which Dr. Kramer has donated.

In the question period which followed, Dr. Kramer explained

DISLIKE CHURCH PLANS

As chairman of the historical sites committee, George Olinger told the society his committee "greatly disapproves" of plans for extensive changes at the historic Gettysburg Presbyterian Church. "It's a very bad thing to destroy this building as a landmark," he said and indicated he "and many Presbyterians" feel it is out of keeping with the trend here toward restoration and preservation of historic sites and buildings.

No action was taken but it was noted the society last year had adopted a resolution disapproving of the proposed changes at the Presbyterian Church was a battle hospital and where President Lincoln worshipped.

Charles Diller, Hanover, announced the forthcoming publication of a book, "Encounter at Hanover: Prelude to Gettysburg."

Pleasant Twp. and the old Hill Church Cemetery. She said it had cost $32 to get a court order on Round Hill Cemetery and asked donations to help cover the cost of similar action for the other cemeteries. Mrs. Henry Scharf, DAR regent, said her organization has taken over care of Black's graveyard.

Miss McIlhenny said some progress is being made on the Low Dutch burial ground in Straban Twp. and the society adopted a resolution of appreciation to District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter for his assistance on the Round Hill court proceedings.

Arthur Weaner reported for the genealogical committee and the society adopted an amendment to the bylaws changing the fee for life memberships in the society from $25 to $100. The executive committee was directed to purchase 50 chairs for use in the Old Dorm meeting room.

ALMOST COUNTY SEAT

Mr. Weaner distributed Straban Twp. maps showing the locations of early land grants, indicating a portion of the township was in the Manor of the Maske. He said the name came from Strabane, Ireland, and the township dates back to about 1746 although court records establishing it never have been found. He spoke of the importance of Conewago Creek on the settlement and told of the laying out of Hunterstown in 1749-50 by David Hunter, a town that once fought to become the county seat. Mr. Weaner said Hunterstown is reputed to be the second oldest town laid out west of the Susquehanna. York was the first.

"The thread of life" in the township was the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church at Hunters-town, he said, and included early church history in his talk. The present church building was erected in 1787. Mr. Weaner covered a long list of names of early property owners in the township with the original holdings marked on his map and with fifth and sixth generation descendants of some of the early families sitting in his audience. "In American history, Scotch Irish men from Straban played their part well," Mr. Weaner concluded.

SUGGEST TRIO OF PRAYERS IN CANCER DRIVE

While there has been no date set nationally for Cancer Sabbath or Cancer Sunday it is recommended to all pastors that they put in their bulletins, announce from their pulpits or promote special articles or statements in their religious publications concerning the Cancer Crusade which is conducted during the month of April by Act of Congress.

The following prayers are suggested for use during the Crusade:

O God, our Father, we, Thy children assembled in Thy name, conscious of our inherent dignity as individuals, because we are Thy children and not mere creatures of the state, realizing that, liberty and freedom are hollow-sounding concepts unless grounded in Thee — we pray and petition Thee to illuminate our intellects that we may the clearer see that liberty and freedom cannot exist apart from Thee — we likewise, pray and petition Thee that Thou wouldst strengthen our wills that we may with determination support and translate into action those programs, such as that of the American Cancer Society, wherein due regard is had for the dignity of the individual and wherein safeguards are established against infringement of our God-given rights to liberty and freedom. These things, we ask in the name of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, Amen.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor T. J. McNamara
Cathedral of St. John the Baptist
Savannah, Ga.

Our God and God of our Fathers: Look with favor upon these devoted men and women whose heads are bowed in humility but whose hearts are raised in thankfulness for Thy many blessings unto all Thy children. We are thankful for the opportunities of learning and working in this blessed land of equality. We are thankful that we live in a land of plenty and not of austerity. Above all, O Lord, we are grateful for these men and women, who, though differing in creed and color, are united in their resolve to bring healing, hopefulness and helpfulness to the sick through the American Cancer Society. O God, impress upon our minds and hearts the compelling thought that: "We expect to pass through this world but once; any good therefore that we can do or any kindness which we can show to our fellow-creatures, let us do it now; let us neither defer it nor neglect it, for we shall not pass this way again." Amen.

wouldst not have Thy children suffer needlessly; we give Thee thanks, for those here gathered who give of their time and talent, that those in pain might be comforted and that the scourge of cancer might be sought out and destroyed. We beseech Thee that Thou wilt fill them with courageous endurance, and sustain them with a dedicated conviction that their merciful endeavors might bring forth upon this earth a little bit more peace and comfort, mercy and understanding than was here before they passed by. To Thy glory we pray. Amen. Rev. W. Carter Merkle, Pastor St. Matthew's Lutheran Church Philadelphia, Pa.

This area of the obligation to the jointure will triple in payments to be made with the 1963 fiscal year," the board statement said.

The preschool test and screening will be held for all incoming first graders in Franklin Twp. on Wednesday, May 9. Parents with questions regarding the program are asked to call the school at Cashtown.

participation in the show to a meeting of the South Central Pennsylvania Travel Council Thursday evening at the Yorktown Hotel, York.

The office committee was authorized to open the information center in the Western Maryland Railway station weekends and evenings starting this weekend. The center will be closed Easter. Reports showed 1,670 letters were answered last month.

Three thousand "walking tours" giving details of what to see while walking through the town have been mimeographed. Vice President Maynard Tuckey reported. Of that number 2,000 will be distributed to the "Iron Horse Ramble" tours here and 1,000 will be available at the office.

William Warren reported on a visit with the Shenandoah Valley Motel Association at Harper's Ferry and gave details of the tour being promoted by that group of approximately 50 battlefields over a 250-mile area.

The executive committee was authorized to buy chairs and a desk for the information office.

Motels were asked to notify the information office when they are filled and museums were asked to notify the office as they change their hours as the season advances.

Vice President Tuckey said the AAA has sent notices to its member offices that Rt. 15 between Harrisburg and Gettysburg is not closed as a result of the construction of the bypass.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Gettysburg Centennial Commission listing some proposals that are being considered by the commission for the observance.

REDEDICATE CHURCH NAVE IN LATIMORE

The Chestnut Grove Lutheran Church, Latimore, will hold a rededication service of its newly remodeled nave during the 10:30 a.m. service Sunday. The speaker will be Rev. Carl L. Warrick, who has been pastor of the congregation since February 1, 1961.

The present structure was built about 1867, but the congregation was organized during the 1840's. The church has been repaired and remodeled several times since the original construction. In 1953 the building was raised and a basement installed for more adequate Sunday School facilities.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

During the recent work, a new acoustical ceiling was installed and the nave repainted. The work was done by John Haar and Eugene Reynolds with many of the members of the congregation donating their labor. The total cost was less than $1,200.

Until January 1, 1961, the church was a member of the York Springs Lutheran Charge which comprised three churches. At that time Chestnut Grove and the Lower Bermudian Lutheran Church joined to form the Latimore Lutheran parish, and called Rev. Mr. Warrick to serve as pastor. Since that time they have purchased the John Smith property, on route 15 near York Springs, to be used as a parsonage.

The rededication services will be climaxed by a musical program, sponsored by the Companions Class of the Sunday School, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to all services.

COUNTY GROUP HEARS WOODIN

Increased population and increased use of modern conveniences have brought new responsibilities in the area of water and sewage disposal, M. H. Woodin, extension agricultural engineer from Pennsylvania State University, told the Gettysburg Young Farmers at their meeting Tuesday evening in the agricultural room of Gettysburg High School.

President Lyndale Brandon introduced Woodin who outlined methods of construction and operation of septic tanks, cesspools, spray irrigation and lagoon type tanks. Septic tank "trouble" usually is found in the tile field, he said.

Construction of lagoon, type sewage plants is increasing where the load is big enough, he added. Lagoons should be from three to five feet deep, he said, "so sunlight can help the bacteria." Water from the disposal area should not flow into drinking water or a residential area. A septic tank will handle the milk-house sewage as well as that from the home "if an adequate tile field is used." He urged members to check their township health regulations before installing a system.

The next meeting of the Young Farmers, April 10, will be on corn growing. The annual banquet will be held April 25.

that very few pieces of jade are marked with the name of the carver. "Because jade takes years to carve, working from dawn to sunset, pieces are often started by the father and finished by a son and more than one person will probably work on it before completion." Dr. Kramer said he is often questioned about the advisability of taking such valuable items out for display.

"NO SECURE PLACE"

"There is really no secure place for such an exhibit but it is no good if it is not seen and appreciated and if we want to enjoy it we must take the chance of exhibiting it. I consider jade carving the nicest form of art for art's sake."

Dr. Kramer was introduced by Mrs. C. L. Coulter.

Mrs. Norman Richardson presided at the meeting, with approximately 75 women present. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. W. C. Waltemyer on "The Goodness of God and the Wonder of Spring." Mrs. C. E. Schildknecht gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Robert Weaver, registrar, reported the following:

Vote More Funds For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has passed legislation that would authorize twice as much money and three times as many overseas volunteers for the Peace Corps.

The bill, sent to the Senate Tuesday by a 316-70 vote, would authorize a Peace Corps budget of $63.75 million for the year beginning July 1. Last year Congress voted $30 million to finance the training and assignment of 2,400 corpsmen to foreign posts.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said only 698 volunteers have been sent overseas so far. The extra funds, he said, would permit the number to climb to 10,000 by the end of 1963.

Members are asked to contribute baked goods to be sold at the next meeting. She stated that there are only four of the College Choir records now available for sale. A rummage sale will be conducted May 5 in the Girl Scout room in the basement of the First National Bank. Mrs. John Shainline has stationery for sale. The annual square dance roundup will be held May 26 when clubs from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey and the District of Columbia will participate. Mrs. Scott Moorhead is in charge for the League and the Gettysburg Cannonade will be hosts, with 10 guest callers on duty. Mrs. Earl E. Ziegler is reservation chairman and co-chairman with Mrs. Moorhead. It was suggested that local people watch the TV show on WGAL April 19 when the Joan Kline show will feature local square dancers.

Mrs. Richardson said that the 51st birthday of the League occurred in February, and was not observed officially due to the snowstorm.

Mrs. Jacob Heikkinen will present a piano concert at the next meeting.

Mrs. Charles H. Glatfelter and Mrs. Henry M. Scharf presided at the tea table which was decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. J. W. Albright and Mrs. Frank R. Bigham were chairmen of the hostess committee.

Pennsylvania Relief: The number of relief cases in Pennsylvania remained at 165,317 cases for the week ending March 27. In Adams County 971 persons are on relief which required expenditures of $1,704.60.

Mosquito Fund: After receiving promises of the full support of civic bodies here, the borough council at its regular April meeting took the initial step in a community mosquito eradication campaign by voting $500 for that purpose with the understanding that an equal or greater sum will be raised by the Chamber of Commerce through popular subscription. With a conference expected today with specialists from Washington, D. C., it was stated by President C. W. Epley that work may begin Thursday morning. He indicated that a new effort will be made to secure WPA funds to help cover labor costs, but that the work will go forward promptly with funds raised locally.

Original Play By Dr. Arms. The story of a life of a successful iron manufacturer is contained in the play "I Made Iron" written by Dr. Richard A. Arms, of Gettysburg College and is being prepared for presentation in the college gymnasium Friday evening. Members of the Owl and Nightingale Club will play the parts. Dr. Arms is director of the club. The play opens in the fall of 1898 and closes in 1937. Three generations of the iron man's family pass across the stage.

Miss Baker and Miss Vinnie Eicholtz will serve as hostesses. The public is invited to attend.

R. R. Long Dies. Word has been received here of the death of Robert R. Long, builder and operator of the first steam laundry in Gettysburg. He died Wednesday at his home in Lewistown where he had lived retired for about eight years. About 35 years ago Mr. Long built the steam laundry on Steinwehr Avenue. The building has been used continuously as a laundry. Mr. Long operated the business for about seven years and then sold out to his son, the late Murray Long. The latter disposed of the laundry to William Rex from whom the present owner, C. Ray Rupp, a son-in-law of the builder, purchased it.

Mark Lee's Surrender: Flags were displayed at the county courthouse this morning in observance of the seventy-second anniversary of Lee's surrender which occurred April 9, 1865.

700 Shelters: Listing Adams County as an "outstanding example" in this state of the service being rendered by the national youth administration and the cooperation being secured from civic organizations, an entire issue of a recent weekly state NYA news letter was devoted to a description of the work that has been done and is being accomplished by the national youth administration here. The new letter states that more than 700 game shelters and feeding stations have been constructed and scattered over wooded and mountainous sections of the county. "The enthusiasm of the youth for the work and the

THE INCESSANT TALKER

Ever since I was a small boy, I have been afraid of incessant talkers. Not afraid for any bodily harm that might result, but afraid to trust them.

There is such power in silence. You never quite know how big a thought is being bred within the heart of a silent man.

When in a company, after listening to the talkers for a while — and there is always at least one who dominates every gathering — I like to look over the company, pick out the most silent of the lot and have a talk with him. Usually it turns out that such a one knows more than anyone else present.

Many years ago I came across one of the most interesting thinkers in my experience in this manner. We spent half the night, and all the next day touching on dozens of interesting and varied topics.

In traveling over a large area where the country is what you might term tremendous, like the Canadian and American Rockies, or out upon the vast and silent plains, there is less temptation for talk. Words are snatched from your tongue and you just think — silently and in the most serious men.

It is the capacity, after all, that a man or woman nourishes, that determines his or her real worth of character. You can set so wise for so very long with one whose mind you are sure is rich like a vein in the hidden earth, yellow with unmined gold.

What an inspiring thing it is to walk into the reading room of a great public library and note hundreds of men and women, boys and girls, reading there silently. I have often stood upon entering such a room, and wondered about all the power back of that accumulating knowledge.

The results of a man's or woman's life are his or her best talk!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Sense Of Power." Protected, 1962, by The George Matthews Adams Service

While I can keep a pal or two
And laugh at every merry jest,
While I can get, when work is through,
Each night a sweet untroubled rest,
While I can bear my bit of care,
I envy not the millionaire.

While both my little ones are well
And I can romp with them and play,
While round the shack wherein I dwell
The clinging roses gently sway,
I'll never sit alone and sigh
And envy richer men than I.

I see no reason to be sad
Because my purse is often lean,
My little girl and little lad
Are just as much a king and queen,
With all their store of splendid health,
As though I had a hoard of wealth.

Blue sky and sunshine both are mine;
Laughter and love I now possess.
The days that for the rich are fine,
For me are surely none the less.
Since joys are neither bought nor sold,
I envy none his store of gold.

ORAL VACCINE FOR POLIO TO COST MILLIONS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania would have to spend at least $2.5 million to buy enough oral anti-polio vaccine for a statewide immunization program, says the state's top health official.

Dr. Charles L. Wilber, state health secretary, gave the estimate Tuesday in announcing that the Health Department is studying what policy it should recommend on oral vaccines.

Cost is one of many factors that must be taken into consideration in this study, Wilber explained.

He said he agreed with the recommendation of Dr. Luther Terry, U.S. surgeon general, that oral vaccines are particularly valuable in battling epidemics.

At the same time however, noting the shortage of oral vaccine, he urged infants, preschool age children and other age groups not yet protected to continue receiving Salk polio shots—administered by injection.

Wilber said he would suggest that the vaccination assistance act now in Congress be amended to provide sufficient funds to defray the expenses of developing and conducting an immunization program if the Health Department decides on a state-wide program with oral vaccine.

Another factor to be considered, he said, is the present immunization level against poliomyelitis and the declining number of cases reported in recent years.

A third factor may be the need for a simultaneous statewide campaign because of technical problems arising from the use of the oral vaccine.

BLIND BARTIMAEUS

... And as he went out of Jericho with his disciples and a great number of people, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the highway side begging.

—Mark X:46

As it is to this day in the Holy Land, blindness was a common affliction in the time of Jesus.

It is easy to imagine the unpleasant appearance of Bartimaeus, the blind beggar of Jericho—the sightless, staring eyes, encrusted with dried secretion and infested with flies.

Probably the disciples turned away from him in disgust. But Jesus perceived the strong light of faith that shone through his inner darkness, and led him, through his feelings, to know that he was in the presence of the Master.

It is evident that Bartimaeus did so recognize Jesus, for he addressed Him by his Messianic title:

"Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me."

Mark tells in his gospel that "many charged him that he should hold his peace." But blind Bartimaeus, groping towards the Radiance that suddenly shone in the heaven of his personal night, would not be suppressed.

He cried out louder than ever.

"And Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be called. And they call the blind man, saying unto him, Be of good comfort, rise; he calleth thee."

"And he, casting away his garment, rose, and came to Jesus."

"And Jesus answered and said unto him, What wilt thou that I should do unto thee? The blind man said unto him, Lord, that I might receive my sight."

"And Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way."

In our day, it is by such faith as that of this blind beggar of Jericho that we receive our spiritual sight, and can follow Him "in the way."

Residents Becoming Red All Around

GLOUCESTER, N.J. (AP) — The situation here is rather red, Freeholder Michael J. Conroy complains.

"Residents not only are seeing red, but looking red," he says.

It comes, Conroy contends, from mounds of red iron ore stored along the Philadelphia waterfront.

The dust is filtering into homes and soiling clothing, Conroy says. The Board of Freeholders asked Mayor H. J. Tate of Philadelphia to remedy the situation.

Mayor Wins Over Own Objections

ASHLAND, Mo. (AP) — Lehman Wren, who didn't want it, was re-elected mayor of Ashland Tuesday when 55 voters wrote his name on their ballots.

Everyone else apparently felt the same way because nobody filed. Nobody else got a vote.

"THE RACERS"

Four Firemen Are Killed In Blast

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — "My God, this thing is going to blow!" Philip Marcelline screamed.

Moments later, a truckload of chemicals exploded outside a storage plant, killing four firemen.

The firemen had been called to put out what started as a small fire on the truck. After the blast, the fire spread to the Van Tassel Storage Co. Additional explosions in the warehouse demolished the building.

Authorities said the initial fire on the truck probably started when a highly inflammable chemical, methyl ethyl ketone, used as an industrial solvent, spilled.

Marcelline was one of four men unloading the chemicals from the truck.

CLAIMS COLD WATER RECORD IN SWIMMING

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If there's a better cold water swimmer in the world than Gun Brickner, a part-time steelworker from near-by Charleroi, someone had better tell Gus.

The 50-year-old Brickner, who claims he's been swimming every day of the year except Christmas since 1948, says he wants "to be recognized as the world champion of cold water swimming."

"If anyone can claim they can beat my record, they must have legal proof, such as sworn statements," Brickner said. "If someone does have a better record, I'll be the first to congratulate him."

HAS PROOF
Brickner does have the sworn statements. He also has movies, still photographs and other documents gathered from all over the globe in the past 34 years to prove his right to the cold swim throne.

Gus has been swimming in cold water since he was 16 when a friend dared him to swim in the Monongahela River on Thanksgiving Day.

"I've had to chop through nine inches of ice to get into water," he said. "My body has been cut up many times by ice in the river. I've swum when the river was flooding. I've swum in rain, snow, sleet, hail, sloop, all kinds of weather."

One day in 1950, Gus took a dip with the outdoors temperature registered at 12 below zero. Last year, he chopped through the ice on the Monongahela for 42 straight days in order to maintain his streak.

COD LIVER OIL
Although the Pittsburgh rivers are his main swimming pools, Brickner has taken dips all over the United States, plus France, England, Belgium and Canada.

He tried to swim the English Channel in 1957 and 1960 but failed both times.

How does Gus, a stocky, five-foot-eight grandfather, manage to maintain the physical stamina needed for his sorties?

"I take cod liver oil every day," he said. "I eat good foods, no sweets or pastries. I don't smoke, no tobacco at all. I intend to continue my winter swimming the rest of my days."

Unlike many of his rodent cousins, the ground hog does not store food for the winter. Instead, he fattens on greens all summer and autumn. Then he sleeps up for another war on spring through the cold months, resting vegetation.

SIGN FOR BIG BOUT MAY 12

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Johnson, the National Boxing Association's 11th heavyweight champion, says his 15-round title fight against challenger Doug Jones May 12 at the Arena here will be a tough one.

But Jones, a 25-year-old New Yorker, took a different view Tuesday after the two signed for the fight. Jones, although he has never been in a 15-round before said he didn't expect it to be a tough fight.

Meanwhile, there were two other developments Tuesday.

Pat Oliveri, Johnson's manager filed a $1 million damage suit against George Gainford, charging he persuaded the fighter to violate his contract.

WILL BE MANAGER
Johnson said he has sued Oliveri for breach of contract. The case is expected to come to trial this June.

"George Gainford, currently my unpaid adviser, will become my new manager if I win my suit against Oliveri," Johnson said.

And in Berlin, Fritz Gretzschel, manager of former European light heavyweight champion Bubi Scholz, said Johnson has agreed tentatively to defend his title in Berlin against Scholz on June 16.

Oliveri said he knew nothing about any such agreement. "He won't fight in June unless I say so," said Oliveri. "I'm still his manager and I'll stop it."

Visiting Rotarians were Mares Sherman, Gettysburg, and Malcolm B. Tebb, Catonsville.

Vice President Howard A. Daum announced that the district conference will be held April 29 and 30 in Lancaster. Reservations to attend should be made no later than next Tuesday. President Clyde W. Crouse announced that the average attendance for the month of March was 96.27, with 100 per cent meeting.

Instead of the regular meeting next Tuesday, the Rotarians and Lions Club will jointly sponsor the Littlestown High School all-sports banquet on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Banker's Restaurant, N. Queen St.

VOTE $50 DONATION

The Sunday School officers and teachers of the adult department of Redeemer's United Church of Christ voted a contribution of $50 to World Service at their bimonthly meeting held on Monday evening in the church social hall. Preliminary plans were made for the annual picnic for the entire Sunday School at Memorial Park, Taneytown, in June on a date to be announced. There was a discussion on the purchase of new song books for the junior department. A new teacher will be secured for the junior high boys class, which was taught by Wayne R. Miller who recently entered the armed forces.

The attend contest currently being conducted among classes in the adult department will conclude after Easter. A similar contest will be held in the children's departments starting in May. It was decided to have guest teachers in July and August again this year and the guests will teach the entire department. The officers and teachers of the adult department will meet again on Monday, June 4. The children's depart officers and teachers will meet on Monday, May 7.

TO MEET TUESDAY

Mervin K. Myers, Littlestown R. 2, president of the Third District Sunday School Association of Adams County, has announced that the annual Sunday School teacher exchange among the county churches will take place on Sunday morning.

The Littlestown archers will have the first archery shoot of the season on Sunday at the fish and game range, near town. This will be a 28-field shoot with reg-

TRICOT FOUND IN MEN'S SHIRTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Tricot, a type of warped knit fabric best known for its use as women's lingerie, is now showing up as men's shirts.

The material is also being fashioned into evening gowns, bathing suits, slipcovers and shower curtains. In any case it does not look like the stuff of which unmentionables are made. Because a variety of textures is laminated to the surface, the material can be as buff as suede or as fuzzy as fur.

Originally only silk was given the tricot weave. Now nylon or acetate fibers are used for the knotted knit stitch altogether.

The tricot knit has increased in popularity because it has its own wash and wear construction, the manufacturers say. Instead of a protective chemical finish, the fabric has natural grooves, like miniature gutters, which carry the water away.

Like lingerie, the outer garments made of tricot are also crease-resistant and often stretchable.

DAYTIME TV NEED PARLOR GAME SHOWS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—What television needs now, quite obviously, are some new, exciting parlor games from which to "adapt" ideas for daytime programs.

Ever since broadcasting decided that the best way to entertain womankind during its in-home hours was by loading the early schedules with soap opera, reruns of elderly night programs and game shows, it has drawn constant inspiration from children's games.

I have traced network game shows of recent seasons directly to "Pollyanna," "Ghost," "Scrabble," charades, and sometimes to a combination of them. Most of them were puny, maladroit efforts and died quietly. The good game shows, the ones that entertained, survived, but usually they are not highly imitative.

NEW ABC SHOW

"Window Shopping," ABC's new mid-day game show that started Monday, borrows liberally from what must be the last, untapped source of ideas for daytime television: the parlor game. All members are requested to report to the range for a work detail early this evening and a business session will follow after dark.

The April meeting of the United Lutheran Church Men of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will have their monthly meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the church. Approximately 60 persons attended the mid-Lenten breakfast in the social hall of St. Paul's Church on Sunday morning. Breakfast was served cafeteria style under the sponsorship of the ULCM.

parlor game—and after seeing the first show, it is obvious why the game was left severely alone.

The original game is the one in which a tray is covered with various objects and the participants are allowed to look for a minute or so before it is whisked away. The winner is the one who can write down the longest list of objects recalled — in other words, it is an observation test.

The television game substitutes photographs—fuzzy and so small the viewers can't make out most objects—and the usual panelists recall one object at a time. It's all extremely dull.

FORD ON DAYTIME

Tennessee Ernie Ford, the fellow with the country-style humor and the city-slicker mustache also turned up Monday on ABC as a daytime entertainer.

As might be expected, it is a low-key, easy-talking, casual program with musical interludes.

If you enjoy watching Ole Ernie, you'll enjoy the show.

MRS. BURTON TRIES TO SAVE HER MARRIAGE

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—Sybil Burton, in an effort to save her marriage, sent an emissary to Rome last weekend to urge her husband not to get entangled in matrimony with Elizabeth Taylor, friends reported today.

But the emissary, actor-playwright Emlyn Williams, denied he had actually interceded with Richard Burton, Miss Taylor's constant companion recently.

Miss Taylor and her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, announced Monday night they are getting a divorce.

The actress and Burton went to by Patrick H. Higgins Jr., 30, of Lowell, Mass., apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed when it failed to negotiate a curve while passing another auto. Higgins was treated for minor injuries and released from the hospital. He was charged with speeding and failing to keep right of center.

work as usual today at the film set in Rome.

TALKED WITH COUPLE

Friends of Mrs. Burton here said she asked Williams to intercede with her husband. She believed Burton might take advice from Williams.

Williams agreed he had spoken with both Burton and his wife. He said he saw Mrs. Burton here before he flew to Rome, and that he talked with her husband for two hours.

"But I didn't talk with him about this Liz Taylor business," he said. "I decided it would not be very tactful to mention it."

Williams, a fellow Welshman, gave Burton much early encouragement. He is an old friend of Burton and his wife and is godfather to their 2-year-old daughter.

CRITICIZE LIZ

Williams said the first thing he did on his return to London was telephone her "and give her Richard's love."

Rome's independent Telsara said it had received letters from Americans, most of them highly critical of Miss Taylor.

Outwardly unperturbed by the uproar over the prospect of a new romance between them, both Miss Taylor and Burton were on the set early for a big banquet scene before the cameras.

ARMED FORCES DESIRE POWER BUT NO WIRES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A want ad for inventors, a new help for bank tellers, a warning about termites are subjects for science at work.

WANTED: WIRELESS POWER

The U.S. armed forces have a new entry for the "help wanted" columns. They're asking the nation's inventors to develop a way to transmit power without wires or cables.

So reports the National Inventors Council of the U.S. Commerce Department. Prime requirements: a technique to transmit 1,000 watts of power for up to 50 miles in usable form. A transmitter would broadcast the electrical power and it would be picked up by a receiver many miles away.

ACCOUNT OR NO ACCOUNT

Ever wait for a bank teller to look up your account so he'd know whether you had enough money to cover your check?

To solve this, computers have been put to work in a new system, that would be located right in front of the teller and would provide him the desired information in two-fifths of a second.

Dan M. Bowers of the Computer Control Co., Framingham, Mass., described the system last week to the Institute of Radio Engineers.

It can, he said, check the last transaction, even though it occurred only five seconds before. The first model, to handle eventually 250,000 accounts, has been designed for the rovident Institution for Savings, Boston.

TERMITE TIME AGAIN

After spring rains, when temperature and moisture are right, termites signal their presence by rising in swarms. They search out wood, paper, or anything containing cellulose. Other signs: mud tunnels built along basement walls as the termites migrate to wooden structures.

They look a little like flying ants, says the National Pest Control Association. But they are different. Termites have thick bodies, no waistline, and four wings of equal length, while flying ants have rear wings shorter than those in front.

Lower's Country Store Opens 9-Day Open House Thursday; Offer Big Prizes

Lower's Country Store in Table Rock, which has been a family project since it was founded in 1850, will hold a nine-day open house beginning this Thursday and ending Saturday, April 14.

The store recently was renovated and modernized to provide more conveniences and better accommodations for its customers.

The store was built in 1850 by Henry Lower and his wife. His son, Elson G. Lower, and his wife were next in line and they handed it down to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Grim. When Clair Grim died, Mrs. Grim ran the store for several years and in June, 1961, sold the property to her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Grim. Ronald Grim had worked in the store all his life and now is proprietor and general manager.

RENOVATED RECENTLY

The recent renovations saw the installation of complete metal shelves, replacing the wooden-type which had been used. The new shelves provide more display space, take up less room and make the use of carts easier in the aisles. Grim said that more than 160 new merchandise items have been added since the installation of the new shelving.

Other new equipment includes a separate freezer unit for sea foods; an open refrigerator for dairy products and sandwich meats and a remodeled meat counter. The store buys its hogs and steers locally and does its own butchering in the slaughterhouse to the rear of the store. The meats are cut and packaged in the store. Another service offered by Lower's is the custom butchering of steers for individuals.

Lower's continuing special is the sale of eggs. The eggs are bought from county farmers and sold in the "Egg Basket." Persons bring their own containers, pick out the eggs they want and are assured of a lower than market value price.

The store buys and sells about 40 crates of eggs per week.

VARIED LINE OF GOODS

The general merchandise store sells a line of hardware goods, including seeds and tools for the small gardener. Many smaller household appliances and general equipment for the home or garden can also be purchased.

In addition to Ronald Grim, personnel who staff the store are Russell Hollabaugh, grocery department manager; Calvin Johnson, manager of the meat department; John Constable, manager of the produce department; and Mrs. Grim, who runs one of the two cash registers. Two other part-time employees also are on the staff.

General supplies of the store include Pensupreme, Budd, Rakestraw's ice cream, P. A. & S. Small, of York; Lewis Lehrner's, of Harrisburg; Stroehmann, Hartzel's, Hanover Bakery and Holsum, for bakery goods; Aero Oil for Phillips gasoline, and several other miscellaneous companies.

OFFERING MANY PRIZES

The store is offering several prizes during the nine-day reopening. The main prize will be a "big pile of groceries." To win, one must guess the cash value of the pile without going over the price, Grim said. "It's like the game, 'The Price Is Right,'"

Other prizes which will be given away at the end of the affair include 20 baskets of groceries; a hind quarter of beef; an electric toaster and a water glass for every $5 purchase. The latter item will continue for six weeks so each family may obtain a set of glasses.

The store will also give free coffee, hoagie sandwiches, lollipops and balloons during the open house.

ENCYCLOPEDIA LISTS OVER 39 MILLION WORDS

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK, (AP) — Considering the fact there are only 26 letters in our alphabet, there is bound to be a lot of duplication when you put together a million words.

But there are infinite ways of putting the letters together, and of combining the words, and when you take all learning as your province, each million words can present a tremendous number of ideas.

Then when you have approximately 39 million words at your disposal, you can convey a mighty river of ideas, information, explanation and interpretation. That's the estimated wordage of the 1962 edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

How would you like to have the assignment of compiling all of man's essential knowledge into 39 million words? For that matter, how would you like to read the whole compilation? You'd need a long lifetime to do it in.

LOT OF HEADACHES
There must be a lot of headaches in making an encyclopedia. Of course the makers of this and other encyclopedias don't have to start from scratch. They can use some of the material they've had in the past — adding, subtracting, revising to keep abreast of such things as new inventions, new discoveries, new evaluations.

In the case of the Britannica, there are about 8,000 contributors and advisers, and under the system of continuous revisions the 1962 edition involved about 1,000 of these experts. They changed or added approximately 3 million words. In the last three years 18 million words have been changed.

You can imagine what a task it is to keep up with such subjects as atomic energy or satellites. But science isn't the only problem.

A lot of things are happening in Africa, and the 1962 edition contains an entirely new article on the subject. (It may be only a coincidence, but when a review of the 1961 edition appeared in the Library Journal, it criticized the African section. Among other things, this review raised an eyebrow at the entry on Galileo, and sure enough, the 1962 edition has a revised article on him.)

'60 CENSUS FIGURES

This edition has incorporated the 1960 census figures. It takes about six months to print an edition, and the 1961 version didn't have the latest census statistics. Being interested in art — or Art — we dipped into a few of the many articles in this category. And ran into an example of what must be a terrific problem for anyone in this business.

Such as indexing. Under the general heading "Art" there are many entries, including such subdivisions as "Romanesque" or "France." But no subtitle for "Renaissance." Yet when you search the index you find "Renaissance Art" as a main heading, with many subheads.

Furthermore, we compared the general article on "Art" with the same section in a Britannica more than a decade old, and found no changes. And we wondered why so much of the section was devoted to the Far East.

ARTICLES COMPARED

Putting the quite old and the new Britannica side by side, we compared the articles on "Paint-

SPRING REDUCING SERIES.

Of all weight problems, those of the bosomline require the most patience to remedy. Trimming measurements takes a long period of spot exercise. And when you are generally overweight, a sensible reducing diet must be combined with workouts.

Performed faithfully, the routines below have proven slimming power. Their action also firms and lifts. As a consequence, they achieve a more youthful line along with a slimmer one.

ing" — more than 30 pages each — and found what we deemed to be a big improvement. Even so, the major figure Picasso was given no more space than some of the lesser names.

We also tried "Art Selling" (in the old edition it was "Art Sales") and found that in the 1962 edition American auctions were covered only through 1955. Maybe this article is on the schedule for revision ere long, catching such things as the Rembrandt "Aristotle" going for $2.3 million. Of course this particular incident occurred while the current edition was being printed.

To take another random example, one of the articles in the new edition points up the need for keeping up to date on the changes in man's learning. In recent years Piltown Man has been something of a block to the men who study man's origins. He didn't fit in. The new article shows how the bones identified as Piltown Man were exposed as a fraud.

Undoubtedly there are plenty of tough problems in editing such a comprehensive work, but the end product is something that we can turn to with confidence. It represents the combined talents of enough scholars to man the faculties of 13 state universities

Action: Without bending the elbows vigorously swing the right arm down to full extension and then back as far as possible. At the same time, swing the left arm up and back—high up and far back. Reverse the arm swing, and without stopping continue for 10 counts. Gradually work up to 30 counts.

fashion on the floor, ankles crossed and knees parted. Hold the back and head erect and keep them so throughout!

Action: Place the palms of the hands firmly against the inner sides of the knees. Simultaneously, push the knees upward and press down with the hands. Make it a tug-of-war in which neither contestant wins. Continue for two minutes, always working for a stronger pull in the chest muscles. As a dividend, these routines also trim and firm the arms.

WAGE-PRICE SPIRAL RISE GIVEN HIGH U.S. PRIORITY

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Halting the wage-price spiral in the American economy is given high priority today in the drive to make U.S. goods competitive with foreign products. And to the extent the new steel labor pact is noninflationary it is being hailed as a first step in bringing U.S. goods into competitive line.

But the gap between employment costs here and abroad is still wide.

It is still a problem to Americans wanting to sell goods in foreign markets and to many feeling the price pressure of foreign goods here. It is a problem for the Kennedy administration in its campaign to increase U.S. exports and thus strengthen the international status of the dollar and halt the periodic drains of our gold to foreign central banks.

COST GAP NARROWS
The labor cost gap is narrowing. Hourly wages in most of the foreign industrialized nations are rising faster now than in the United States. And fringe benefits, such as those stressed in the new steel contracts, make up a much higher percentage of total labor costs in most foreign countries than here.

The European and Japanese labor costs, however, have a long way to go yet to be as high as in the United States. The First National City Bank of New York notes in its April survey of business:

"The $2.32 per hour paid to the average United States factory worker in 1961 was seven times the hourly wages paid to his Japanese counterpart, and six times those in Italy. Even in neighboring Canada wages tend to average about one-fifth less than here."

INCREASE EXPORTS
Still, despite the higher wage costs here, U.S. manufacturers have been able to increase their exports fairly steadily in the post-war years. That is because wages aren't the only factor in setting prices or in winning competitive battles.

The bank further notes: "Even though American workingmen are the highest paid in the world, their skill, backed up by massive capital investment and managerial efficiency, helped this country set a record for exports in 1961."

The trouble is that other nations are catching up in productivity—output per man hour of labor. Their fast-growing markets are

Loses Husband, Father Later

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Martha Stern Snyder lost both her husband and father Tuesday.

Her husband, Edwin Snyder, 31, of Senor, Somerset County, was fatally injured when his car left a highway and crashed into a tree in Upper Yoder Twp.

Her father, Paul B. Stern, died in Memorial Hospital here where he had been a patient. Joint funeral services will be held Friday.

GREECE VILLA NOW IS GUEST HOME FOR VIPs

By D. J. TRAVIOS
ATHENS (AP)—Greece now has a marble guest house for the VIPs who visit this country in the wintertime.

They will, presumably, have to stay elsewhere in the summer, since 21-year-old Crown Prince Constantine has announced he will make it his summer residence.

The villa (some call it a palace), known as Rododaphni or The Oleanders, is on Mt. Pentelicon, only 10 miles from Athens. It was started in 1843 as a country chateau by the Duchess of Plaisance, a lady of Franco-American birth, but she never finished it.

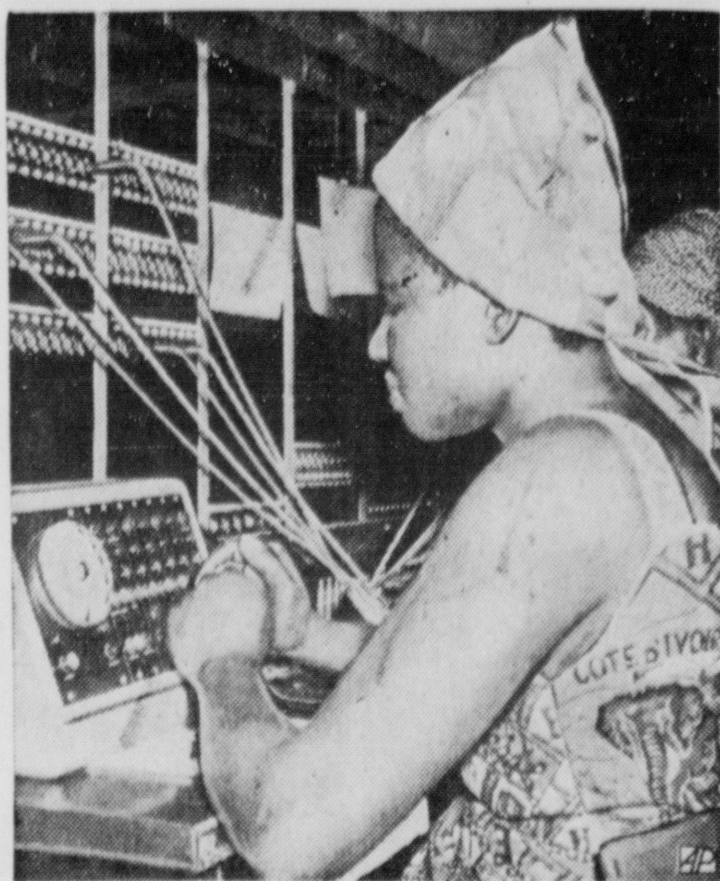

FEW CASTLES
Greece was ruled by the Ottoman Turks from the 15th Century to the beginning of the 19th. And it was not possible during that time for noblemen to follow the European practice of building fine castles and residences. Therefore, large residences are most limited in Greece, though of modern (but more moderate) villas there are plenty.

When the government decided giving them the economies of mass production, once an American monopoly.

OTHER FACTORS
In addition to the quality of labor and the high investment in plant and equipment, factors affecting the competitive race include the cost of raw materials, efficiency of management, taxes, and freedom from bureaucratic red tape—not to forget superior quality of products, and better selling and distributing tactics.

All of these things will play a part in the degree of success the United States will have in boosting exports to cut down the deficit in the balance of payments, to bolster the dollar, to trim gold losses.

Taming the wage-price spiral is just one step, if a prime one

CAPITAL CALL—Natives operate the new automatic telephone system installed in Abidjan to service the capital and other cities of the Ivory Coast republic.

the Oleanders could make a splendid guest house, civil engineer-architect Alexander Baltazzi offered his services gratuitously to complete the building. For the past three years he has been scouring the country to secure the various period materials that would harmonize in its completion.

THE DUCHESS
The woman who planned the Oleanders, the Duchess of Plaisance, was born in 1785, the daughter of the French charge d'affaires in Pennsylvania. In 1804 she married an aide de camp of Napoleon I, a General Lebrun who bore the title of Duke of Plaisance.

In 1842 she left her husband and established a home for herself and her daughter Elsie in Athens.

When this Athens residence burned in 1847 she built another town house, in Byzantine style like the Oleanders. It now houses the Byzantine Museum of Athens.

BRYAN BUST FOUND
SALEM, Ill. (AP)—The old William Jennings Bryan home has received a life-size bust of Bryan for its museum.

It was found buried under the rear porch of the Bryan home by workmen who were removing the rotted porch to replace it.

The bust, composed of masonry similar to concrete, apparently was made when Bryan was a young man, possibly during his first campaign for the presidency, says Mrs. J. Knight, wife of the museum's caretaker.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy could make three or more appointments to the Supreme Court—even before his first term ends in 1965—if vacancy averages continue.

Four of the justices—Earl Warren, Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter, William O. Douglas—because of age or length of service—have exceeded the average age or length of service of Supreme Court justices.

But, because of the composition of the court, if all four of those men were to retire before 1965, Kennedy at most could add to the liberal view on the court by no more than one appointment.

Warren, Black and Douglas vote consistently on the liberal side. Frankfurter, compared with them, has been pretty much a conservative since he went on the court in 1939.

SERVED 5 YEARS
The opportunity which came to Kennedy last week to name Byron R. White to the court to succeed Justice Charles E. Whittaker was unusual, as the averages go.

Whittaker had served only five years. The average time on the court for all 93 justices from the beginning has been 16 years. The nine-man court which Whittaker just left has been pretty much split between liberals and conservatives, with some little shifting around on individual cases they decided.

While not much is publicly known about White, even though he had been deputy attorney general a year, it's unlikely he will run with the conservatives for an obvious reason.

LIBERAL PROGRAMS
Kennedy's programs, while neither as suddenly new or startling as those of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his early New Deal days, are more or less liberal. It might be nice to think a president—at least one as active as Kennedy—is simply interested in picking the man most scholarly in the law without concern for his views.

That doesn't fit. At this time in American history it's a certainty Kennedy wouldn't pick for the court a Southern judge or lawyer who is also a segregationist.

If it is granted that he wouldn't do that, then it must be conceded a justice's viewpoint means something to the President. Then the only question left is how much a justice's viewpoint means to him.

BACKED BY ABA
The President hasn't discussed that publicly. But he has spoken highly of White's qualifications and said he was recommended by the American Bar Association for the appointment.

Warren, Black, Douglas and Justice William Brennan Jr. make up what has been called the liberal bloc on the court. On the conservative side were Frankfurter, and Justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and, generally, Whittaker.

Thus, if White's thinking is along liberal lines, he has tipped the balance toward the liberal side.

LIBERAL BALANCE
This would be undone if Warren, Black or Douglas quit—or if all three were to step down before 1965—and Kennedy replaced them with one or more conservatives.

If Frankfurter quit and Kennedy replaced him with a liberal—and there was no other change—the balance of the court would be liberal.

But if Frankfurter quit and was replaced by a conservative—while the rest of the present court remained unchanged—there would still be some nip and tuck decisions.

There is, however, no sign that

Warren, Black, Douglas or Frankfurter has it in mind to get out. The average age at which all 93 justices in American history left the bench through retirement or death has been 67½ years.

Warren is 71, Black, 76, Frankfurter, 79.

Black has already served 24½ years, Frankfurter, 23 and Douglas 23—all well above the average of 16 years for all of the justices of the past.

Neither Warren, Black nor Frankfurter—all in the 70s—would be setting any record if they stayed another 10 years or so. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was the oldest justice who ever served. He stayed till he was 91.

The Canary Islands got their name from canis, the Latin word for dog. Early explorers found a ferocious breed there. Canary birds, in turn, were named for the islands.

10,000 Of West Berlin's Garrison Rushed To War Posts In Big Alert Test

BERLIN (AP)—Ten thousand men of West Berlin's Allied garrisons rushed to combat positions early Tuesday for a test of alertness.

The exercise roused out most of the American, British and French soldiers in West Berlin. It was the largest operational test undertaken since the building of the Berlin wall last summer.

Three American battle groups, three battalions of British infantry and a French brigade, plus supporting tanks and armored cars rolled through the streets.

The Allies said the test was designed to evaluate the mobility of the units and their ability to react to various situations.

5-HOUR ALERT

American troops had breakfast in the field and returned to their barracks nearly five hours after being alerted. British and French troops pulled back earlier, after being deployed for three hours.

While some of the Western units were still in the field, MIG jet fighters of either the Soviet or East German air forces flew overhead.

Long vapor trails could be seen in the clear blue sky. Sonic booms shook the center of the city as the jets smashed through the sound barrier.

In another military activity, the U.S. Army sent a platoon of infantry rolling along the autobahn like line to West Germany. The Army said that the platoon, from Co. A, 3rd Battle Group, 6th Infantry, was going to the West for a brief training period.

FREQUENT MOVEMENTS

Such troop movements are frequently made along the 10 miles of highway across Communist East Germany to demonstrate Western rights to road access to Berlin.

Big maneuvers by the East German army were concluded at the beginning of the week, the East German news agency ADN reported today. The agency said the

Schedule First Of Two Radar Tests

HARRISBURG (AP)—The first of two radar demonstrations planned by state police this week got underway Tuesday at the Somerset County Court House in Somerset.

State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney said the demonstrations were scheduled at the request of county judges and district attorneys.

The second was held at the Cambria County Court House in Ebensburg this morning at 10:30 a.m.

State police offered to hold the demonstrations last week in order to explain to county authorities how radar units work in detecting highway speeders. Radar became a legal means of prosecuting highway speeders in Pennsylvania last year.

McCartney said his office also is working out plans to fill requests for similar demonstrations in other counties.

of war camp for two years. "It was terribly boring," complained Katzenbach.

To make it less so, he turned to his books, and did so well that he contemplated his final two years at Princeton within a few weeks of his return and was graduated cum laude.

URGED BY WHITE

It was White, a school mate at Yale, who talked Katzenbach into joining the Justice Department. Katzenbach, who was not active in politics, had been studying international law on a fellowship at Geneva.

Katzenbach has served as a member of the American Bar Association Committee on the law of outer space, was special consultant to the secretary of state in connection with the United Nations' ad hoc committee on the law of outer space and is co-author — with Prof. Leon Lipson of Yale — of a study of "Legal Literature of Air Space."

WILL LAUNCH HIGH-ENERGY SPACE ROCKET

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—After months of frustrating delays, the initial test flight of the high-energy Centaur space rocket is set for Friday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the two-stage rocket will be launched on an intended ballistic trajectory lasting 15 minutes. The vehicle should reach an altitude of 300 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean, 1,175 miles from the starting point. No payload will be carried.

The test will provide the first flight data on how powerful liquid hydrogen will behave in space. This supercold fuel, which must be kept at a temperature of 423 degrees below zero, provides 40 per cent better performance than chemical fuels employed in present U.S. rocket engines.

30,000-POUND THRUST

Two liquid hydrogen engines with total thrust of 30,000 pounds drive the second stage of the 107-foot Centaur. The first stage is a modified Atlas missile with 367,000 pounds of thrust. This combination is capable of placing 8,500-pound satellites into earth orbit, landing 2,300 pounds on the moon, or hurling 1,300 pounds to Mars or Venus.

These weights are considerably greater than the capability of this nation's biggest present space booster, the Atlas-Agena B. Centaur is expected to fill a gap between Agena B and the more powerful Saturn class of boosters being developed.

DELAY LAUNCHING

Problems encountered in developing liquid hydrogen as a propellant delayed the launching nearly a year. NASA feels the troubles have been licked, but officials do not expect a perfect flight on the first try.

Ignition of the second stage is not a primary objective. Officials are more interested in how liquid hydrogen operates in the weightless environment of space.

A television camera, designed to snap a picture every two seconds, has been mounted on the forward bulkhead of the hydrogen tank to observe what happens to the hydrogen — whether it curls up in a ball, sticks to the side of the tank or becomes a gas. More than 500 channels of information will be radioed during flight.

The findings will set the pattern for future Centaur research firings, at least seven of which

3rd Death Occurs From Nursing Home

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A third occupant of a suburban nursing home which a fire hit early Monday has died.

Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital attendants said Mrs. Susan Lena Berry died Monday night, some 18 hours after the fire. Mrs. Berry had been one of several evacuees of the Vart-Hahn Nursing Home in Yeadon who had been taken to the hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation following the fire.

Attendants said Mrs. Berry, who had resided with a niece, Mrs. James Little, of Havertown, Pa., had been a cardiac patient at the home.

The other victims who were dead on arrival at hospitals immediately after the fire were Curtis Wells, 65, and Anthony La-Marr, 86, both of Philadelphia.

Some 79 patients were evacuated when the blaze broke out in the cellar of the nursing home.

are planned before useful payloads are carried. Liquid hydrogen also will be used on upper stages of Saturn and later Nova space rockets.

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Minoru Genda, Japan's air chief of staff, resigned Tuesday to enter politics. The 57-year-old officer, one of the planners of the Pearl Harbor attack, said he planned to run in July for a seat in the upper house of Parliament.

EXPECT MORE JOBS FOLLOW STEEL TREATY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Several thousand jobs will be created by the new vacation and retirement plans of the new steel labor contract, says a high official of the United Steelworkers Union.

Marvin Miller, union chairman of the Human Relations Commission, told newsmen at a contract briefing session Monday that the improved vacation benefits alone will provide the equivalent of 6,000 to 8,000 full-time jobs.

He said the retirement plan would add many more jobs.

Miller said the impacts of the new jobs will be felt next year after the vacation and savings plan and the longer regular vacation benefits become effective.

Under the vacation and savings program of the new contract, an employee will receive one additional week of vacation for each two years worked after 1960. Regular vacations will be increased one week.

"NUDGE PLAN"

The new retirement portion of the pact is based on a so-called "nudge plan" that penalizes workers who don't retire after they reach age 65. If they don't retire within three months after their 65th birthday they will lose 10 per cent of their past service benefits (one week's vacation pay for each five years of service). For every three additional months they remain on the job after that, they will continue to lose 10 per cent of past service benefits.

The new contract, which calls for no wage hike over the current $3.28 an hour scale for basic steelworkers, is expected to be signed Friday.

Miller said the contract is for two-years only if both parties desire. He said wages can be renegotiated before the two years are up and may be reopened on 90 days notice after May 1, 1963. Other features of the pact are extended past two years.

Miller added that he did not expect any difficulties in negotiating with other steel firms besides the 11 major companies.

"I don't know what would cause difficulties," he said.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Walter Nipper, a local golfer, told of a new way to keep greens clean.

"I was at Fort Campbell the other day and a helicopter was hovering over the greens," he said. "One of the men told me they were blowing the leaves off because the colonel was going to play that afternoon."

World Briefs

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Nine persons perished and 22 others suffered burns Friday night when a moving passenger bus caught fire near Hwachon, 70 miles east of Seoul, news reports said.

A box of some highly inflammable material inside the bus reportedly was ignited by a match and exploded.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The comptroller of the currency Friday issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Monday, March 26.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea Friday dedicated its first atomic reactor, a 100-kilowatt research unit. It cost $320,000, and the United States supplied $330,000.

SANS SUPPORTS

CANA, Va. (AP)—Officers who raided and destroyed a 750-gallon still and 300 gallons of moonshine captured a crutch and a walking cane. The owner apparently decided he didn't need them when the revenues approached.

Will Open Fertilizer
Blending Plant April 15

A new plant designed to "customize" fertilizer for Adams County farmers will go into operation on April 15. This is the first plant of its kind in the state.

The fully automated fertilizer plant being built by Measured Soil Food, Inc., will blend fertilizer to the customer's exact specifications. The plant will be able to produce 20 tons of finished product an hour.

Dan Walter, president of Measured Soil Foods, is also the co-owner of Walter & Lady, Inc., which sells seed, farm supplies and Texaco gasoline and products to area farmers. The new plant is being built next to Walter & Lady facilities on Rt. 234, one mile west of Biglerville.

OFFER 6,000 FORMULAS

"There has been a growing need for a fertilizer blending plant in the area," according to Walter. "Farmers have never been able to buy the exact analysis their state university soil test recommendations have called for and have had to take the fertilizer that came closest," he said. "The new blending plant will change this. It is capable of blending more than 6,000 formulas. Insecticides, herbicides and secondary elements can be mixed right into the fertilizer."

"Our premium product will be a 5-10-10-2, which has two units of sulfate of potash magnesium to overcome magnesium deficiencies in the area."

Although blending plants are new to this state, they have been used successfully for years in the midwest, Walter said. Blending avoids the use of fillers found in some mixed fertilizers.

FREE DELIVERY

Measured Soil Food will offer free delivery service for orders over five tons, or will load the fertilizer on the farmer's truck in bulk or bagged form. A credit will be given for returned bags. Farmers will be able to lease spreading equipment from MSF, and the company is also offering a free soil management counsel and free record-keeping service on fertilizer practices.

Later this spring after the plant goes into operation the company will hold an open house for all area farm families.

PLUM TO RUN
LIONS' SHOW

DETROIT (AP) — Milt Plum, former Penn State star, wants to run the show and George Wilson is going to let him do it for the Detroit Lions.

The Lions' new quarterback made his first visit to Detroit Tuesday since last week's trade with Cleveland and signed his 1962 National Football League contract. He went home with a heavy homework assignment to be learned by late July.

"He's taking our playbook and a projector back to Cleveland with him," said Wilson. "We want him to watch our movies and learn our plays."

The Lions' coach greeted Plum with a promise the quarterback will control the team on the field.

Lawrence To Hold
Two Appointments

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence announced the following appointments Tuesday before leaving for his extended overseas trip to Japan:

Bloomsburg State College trustees, Joseph C. Conner, Bloomsburg, succeeding the late Carl H. Fleckenstein.

Philadelphia State Hospital trustees, Mrs. Gladys C. Ellberg, Philadelphia, succeeding Harsh W. Stalberg.

MAKE CHANGES
IN BASEBALL
RULES FOR '62

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The umpires have held several informal discussion periods during the exhibition baseball season, working on the new rules that were passed last December. The most important changes involve catcher's interference and obstruction plays.

Under the old rules, interference with a batter by a catcher—or any fielder—entitled the batter to first base without liability to be put out. The new rule gives the manager of the batting team an option to decline the interference penalty and accept the play.

Larry Napp, veteran American League umpire, explained it this way:

"Suppose there is a runner on third base who scored while the batter was being thrown out at first after being interfered with. Under the old rule, the runner would have to go back to third and the batter would be awarded first base."

PLAY OR PENALTY

"Under the new rule, the manager may advise the plate umpire that he wants to accept the play, instead of the penalty. In other words, he would accept the run scoring and let the batter be called out."

The other important rule change involves an obstruction play when a fielder blocks off a runner or impedes his progress.

Augi Donatelli, a leading National League umpire, gave this explanation of the new rule:

"If there is obstruction on a rundown play, say between second and third, the runner is awarded the next base ahead of his last position. In the past the placing of the runner depended on whether he was trying to get back to the base he just left or trying to advance an additional base."

20 STITCHES
REQUIRED TO SEW AGE'S LIP

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—This is a day of truce while the Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens patch up the wounded in their Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs, which reached their brutish best Tuesday night in Chicago Stadium.

The Hawks won 5-3, taking both games on home ice after losing the first two of the best-of-seven series in Montreal last week. The fifth match will be on the National Hockey League champions' rink Thursday night and the sixth in Chicago Sunday.

20 STITCHES IN LIP

Hawk Coach Rudy Pilous accused Montreal's Lou Fontinato of deliberately spearing Stan Mikita. Twice Fontinato went out of his way to knock Mikita to the ice as the wild 16,663 fans shouted their wrath at the big "villain."

Meanwhile, the Hawks' ace defenseman, Reg Fleming, had to have 20 stitches in a gashed lower lip and dentist work on teeth that were shoved out of line. And scoring star Bobby Hull required six stitches in a wound above his upper lip.

The game was vicious with 18 penalties called against the Canadiens and 10 against Chicago. Fontinato drew three penalties, including a major, and twice the Hawks scored while he was locked up.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The faith of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio G. Spafford of Chicago enabled them to overcome the loss of four daughters in the sinking of a ship and of a son in fever, and save the lives of others.

Mrs. Spafford "lifted her soul to God in an agony of despair and dedicated her life to His service," and Mr. Spafford "learned to find peace in service." They went to Jerusalem in 1881 with friends, where they healed, taught and aided the Arab, continuing their service during two wars, during which they nursed the wounded "without distinction of creed or nationality, and in circumstances of danger." They established a tourist hotel, a clinic, a hospital for children.

Today, a daughter, Bertha Spafford Vester, continues her parents' American Colony Aid Association, remembering her fathers' words: "I have come to Jerusalem where my Lord lived, suffered and conquered. I hope to learn to live and conquer. How long we remain here is in the Lord's hands."

2 SERVICES
VIE FOR TESTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force and Navy reportedly are jostling for a greater share of the limited number of nuclear weapons tests to be conducted in the Pacific later this month.

The final decision on the specific makeup of the tests is up to President Kennedy, acting on the recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and scientific experts from the Pentagon, the Atomic Energy Commission and the White House.

There has been no official word on the number of tests planned, but it is understood there will be about three dozen shots. Some will come at altitudes of several hundred miles.

Sources said there is virtually no chance that any missiles which may be fired by combat crews in the upcoming tests will pass over populated areas of the United States. In all likelihood, they will be fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California out over the Pacific.

Some of the tests will involve actual weapons systems. These probably will include missiles with their warheads, fired from land, submarine and aircraft platforms.

3 MORE BOOKS ARE WRITTEN ON E. O'NEILL

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After long neglect, Eugene O'Neill is getting more and more attention from other writers.

Two biographies and a critical anthology are new additions to the expanding shelf of posthumous literature about America's only Nobel Prize playwright.

This makes seven assorted works published in the past three years. Before he died in 1953, O'Neill inspired a single slender biography and one book of criticism.

The boom began with a sudden revival of Broadway interest in his dramas in 1956. Researchers have been scurrying ever since.

The rivalry to document and explain his anguished life is turning out to have an odd aspect. Besides expectable disagreements in areas open to opinion, the record is being complicated with peculiar differences over allegedly factual data.

LIST OF BOOKS
This is particularly noticeable with regard to the latest biographies: "The Tempering of Eugene O'Neill" by Doris Alexander (Harcourt, Brace and World; $5.95); and "O'Neill" by Arthur and Barbara Gelb (Harcourt; $12.50).

Miss Alexander, an assistant English professor at Staten Island Community College, limits her account to O'Neill's first 32 years. She promises a second volume later, covering the years from 1920 to 1953.

Gelb, a theatrical news reporter for the New York Times, and his wife tackle the dramatist's entire lifetime in their 900-page compendium.

During the period covered by both books, discrepancies are frequent. A significant event in O'Neill's background is shifted by 20 years from one volume to the other. A number of names and dates shift about. Deductions that result are often contradictory.

NO FOOTNOTES
Both biographies deplorably omit footnotes or detailed qualification for many assertions. Miss Alexander promises a fully annotated edition later.

The teacher, whose writing is not as professionally sleek as the Gelbs', appears to have the edge in researching O'Neill's early years. In a foreword she claims to have, among other things, studied theater journals for 52 years — column-by-column — to unearth the flamboyant stage career of the dramatist's father, star James O'Neill.

Miss Alexander's avowed concept is to explain the writer in terms of the five persons she feels had the most profound influence upon him during formative years — parents, brother and two friends.

The Gelbs do not declare themselves in a preface Brooks Atkinson, former New York Times drama critic, says, in a guest foreword that the couple aimed at comprehensive life and study rather than selective biography.

Much of the narrative is derived from letters O'Neill wrote, plus the recollections of assorted friends and acquaintances. About 400 persons were contacted.

NO RELIABLE SOURCE
At some points, space in the Gelb volume seems to have been allotted more on a basis of how much detail was turned up, rather than how important it was or how reliable the source.

One account is from a woman admittedly suffering from senility psychosis; at another point, four pages of direct dialogue are loosely explained as "reconstructed partly from (a man's) uncannily accurate memory, partly from correspondence and partly from the recollection of other contemporaries."

Elsewhere a man who met O'Neill's widow several years after the dramatist died is given space for analysis of the couple's relationship.

Such items, plus a tendency to flesh the bones of dry fact with dubious detail and to ignore what couldn't be tracked down, make "O'Neill" a tome not to be used for authoritative reference. For those familiar with source material there are several intriguing omissions.

CRITICAL WORK
The third new book is "O'Neill and his Plays," edited by Oscar Cargill, N. Bryllion Fagin and William J. Fisher (New York University Press; $7.50).

These three professors have made a selective and dynamic grouping of critiques and monographs from the mass of papers published since O'Neill first blazed in the theatrical sky in 1916. Included are some of his letters and articles written for newspapers.

Together, the three books considerably enhance the readily available literature pertaining to the enigmatic dramatist and the troubled works he gave to the world's theater. More undoubtedly remains to be said.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A thief stole $800 worth of women's and girls' shoes from a car in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

But just what good the shoes will do him is uncertain—they're all for the left foot.

Hits Welfare For Practices

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—J. Collins McSparran, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, has hit the State Welfare Dept. for "squandering public funds to subsidize illegitimacy."

McSparran said Tuesday "there is no limitation upon the number of illegitimate children a person may have and still get payments for each from the State Welfare Dept."

"I see no reason why the upright people of Pennsylvania must keep on paying out taxes for those who flaunt our moral code until they have reached the end of human productivity," McSparran told an audience at the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

"There should be a suitable work program under which able-bodied persons on relief should earn the money paid them," he said.

Pittsburgh May Join Stamp Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mayor of Pittsburgh was scheduled to meet with officials of the Department of Agriculture here today to discuss the inclusion of Pittsburgh in the federal food stamp program.

"I plan to ask the Agriculture Department to include the City of Pittsburgh in the federal stamp program if that agency plans to expand its present operation as has been reported," Mayor Joseph Barr said.

Barr said he will talk with John Duncan, assistant secretary of agriculture.

The food stamp program is set up whereby needy families use stamps instead of money in buying food at grocery stores. Additional stamps also can be purchased by the families, paying cash for a fraction of the stamp's value.

SUCCUMBS ANYWAY

PITTSBURGH, Mass. (AP)—Money in the bank and special care failed to save a 150-year-old elm tree.

The tree became the victim of Dutch elm disease despite the fact the late Jennie M. Arms Sheldon had set up a trust fund for its preservation.

The tree — on the campus of Deerfield Academy — was even equipped with a lightning rod.

The small trust for the 110-foot-tall tree had been administered by the school since 1938.

TRYOUTS FOR JUNIOR MISS ON THURSDAY

Tryouts for the Junior Miss Pageant will be featured at the semi-monthly dinner meeting of the Littlestown Lions Club at 7 p.m. on Thursday in the Starlite Room, Dutterer's Restaurant. The local entries, members of the Junior Class at Littlestown High School, will dine with the club and following the business session will present their talent acts. The talent acts will not exceed the three-minute time limit. Two girls will be selected to represent Littlestown and voting will be by secret ballot.

The Adams County Junior Miss Pageant will be held Saturday, May 5, 8 p.m. in the Littlestown High School auditorium. The local Lions Club has been granted the franchise for the pageant in the county and is the only Lions Club to receive the franchise in Pennsylvania. Marvin F. Breighner will attend a franchise meeting on Sunday afternoon in Reading.

The local Lions and Rotary Clubs will sponsor the annual Littlestown High School All-Sports Banquet on Thursday, April 12, 6:30 p.m. at Banker's Restaurant. The date was recently changed from April 10 to April 12. There will not be a Lions Club meeting on April 19.

Girl Scout Troop 777 met on Tuesday after school at the engine house. Information on extra badges earned should be given to Mrs. Chester S. Byers, leader, so that they can be ordered by her by the end of the week. Assignments for the foods badge should be completed by the next meeting date, April 24; scrapbooks should also be finished by this time, for the curved bar award.

GIVEN TESTIMONIAL
Elmer G. Miller Sr., S. Queen St., Littlestown, outgoing captain of the Gettysburg Cantons No. 15 and Mrs. Melvin A. Miller, Lumber St., Littlestown, outgoing president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Patriots Militant No. 9, were honored at a testimonial dinner on Saturday evening in the social room of Redeemer's United Church of Christ, Littlestown.

Approximately 60 persons were in attendance. A roast beef dinner was served by the women of the church. The invocation was given by the Rev. Col. Ludwig Mortenson, Harrisburg. Captain Raymond Miller, Fairfield, was toastmaster.

Guests were present from Union City, Calif. (AP)—Two housewives are credited with saving Robin Scott Wilkerson, 5, from possible death from bee stings.

The youngster was attacked Tuesday when he lifted the cover from a hive in a neighbor's yard. Barbara Van Derveen and Valerie Shipp ran to the screaming boy and sprayed him with a garden hose.

The boy's father, John, rushed him to a private physician. Robin was treated for 150 stings.

Spot Check Motels For Tax Levies

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Revenue Department is planning a thorough check of motel and hotel trade this summer to assure the collection of Pennsylvania's four per cent sales tax.

Department aides said Tuesday field men in 22 district offices of the Sales Tax Bureau have been ordered to be on the alert for changes of management or ownership of vacation area lodges, motels and hotels.

Department investigators also check temporary summer eating establishments, such as drive-ins, roadstands and mobile ice cream vendors.

The checks, explained the department, are designed to make sure that proper licenses have been issued so the sales tax can be collected.

TV WEATHER PROGRAMS NOT ALWAYS BEST

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—With the blooming of the first daffodil and the return of the urge to get out of doors, the chatty band of television weather reporters start picking up stern critics—people whose business is affected by predictions of bad weather.

Sometimes, it appears, forecasts are inaccurate. Sometimes viewers misunderstand those evening meteorological chalk-talks. The result is that outings to the beach, motor trips or tickets to outdoor shows are canceled—needlessly.

Las summer the head of a large travel bureau became so angered by what he called "dramatized but misleading" television weather forecasts that he fired off a complaining telegram to the Federal Communications Commission.

EDUCATED GUESSES
There have been reports from beach resorts about concessionaires left with huge supplies of unconsumed hot dogs and hamburgers when anticipated crowds failed to arrive—after weather forecasts inaccurately predicting stormy weather.

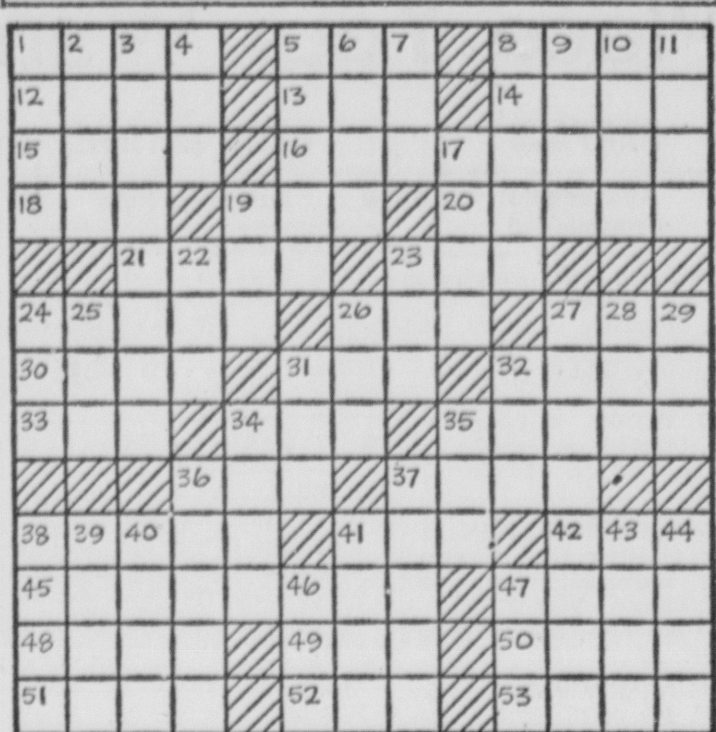

What these people prefer, apparently, is for weather reporters to inform the audience what the weather is doing at the moment (which they know anyway) and to make a big secret about the future—an unlikely situation.

Most of us appreciate educated guesses about tomorrow's weather, but also most of us could dispense with all those maps and comment about lows and highs and pressure systems. I could also dispense happily with the time-filling chatter of the forecasters. In my area we've got one weather girl who helps fill the five minutes by strumming a ukulele.

Waynesboro, York and Harrisburg. Potted plant awards were presented to a number of guests, and the centerpiece on the speakers table was sent to Elmer Miller, who was unable to attend due to illness.

Robert Crawford, Hanover, entertained with humorous pantomimes.

FIRE DESTROYS HOTEL IN RENO; MANY MISSING

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Fallen floors and inner walls and charred gambling equipment formed a blackened mass for searchers to probe today after a 10-hour hotel fire in the downtown casino district. The death toll couldn't be determined until wrecking crews topple dangerously weakened walls later in the day.

Authorities said an unidentified middle-aged woman had perished in the blaze which destroyed the historic and newly remodeled New Golden Hotel.

But three hotel entertainers and more than a score of guests were unaccounted for at a late hour Tuesday night.

17 ARE INJURED
"It doesn't take much smoke to kill, and there's a hell of a lot of it in that building," a fire chief said, fearing some of the guests had been trapped in the four-story building. Seventeen persons were injured.

As soon as the fire was out, business resumed its usual hectic pace at gambling palaces just across an alley from the hotel. Some neighboring buildings were damaged in the area on Center Street, just off Virginia Street and separated from the largest casinos by Douglas Alley.

The fire broke out Tuesday morning, apparently from an exploding basement boiler or acetylene tank.

AIRLINE SUGGESTIONS

One of the big airlines currently is conducting an experimental advertising campaign on radio that is a real weather service—announcing on an hourly basis local weather conditions, flying conditions and whether planes are arriving and taking off on schedule.

7 ASTRONAUTS WON'T ACCEPT $24,000 HOME

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's seven astronauts have had their minds made up for them: they are not going to accept $24,000 homes plus furnishings offered by the great heart of Texas.

Under gentle tutelage from higher-ups Tuesday it might be misunderstood if they accepted the spunkin' new houses from the Houston Home Builders Association.

None of the spacemen was present when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced at a news conference that the astronauts were regrettably declining the offer.

But Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers, the "voice of the astronauts," was there, as was C. Leo DeOrsey, business adviser for the spacemen.

CALLED ETHICAL
It was DeOrsey who had decided it was perfectly ethical for the spacemen to accept the houses in Houston, which is soon to be the home of a new $90-million manned space flight center.

Then the White House, the Pentagon and NASA began to have qualms, especially after the situation was highly publicized.

So DeOrsey got in touch with NASA and received the word, which was, in effect, thumbs down. He communicated with Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., the nation's first man in orbit, who passed word to the other six astronauts.

As a matter of fact the spacemen don't seem to have been very active either in accepting the offer in the first place or in rejecting it in the second. They left it in the hands of their lawyer, DeOrsey.

The NASA statement said the astronauts believe the free house offer was made in good faith, but "they now feel, however, that the motives of the people who made the offer and their acceptance might be misunderstood."

The Houston builders said said they were sorry the offer was turned down and indicated they were disturbed that the situation had caused embarrassment.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax as a requisite in federal elections has been approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee and sent to the full Judiciary Committee where it is expected to meet with quick approval. The measure approved Monday is identical to one passed by the Senate last week. It would amend the Constitution to wipe out the poll tax, which still is a federal voting requirement in five states—Virginia, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Mississippi.
